

Michigan State University
Department of Physiology
Thomas Adams Memorial Scholarship Application

Each year, the Department of Physiology select a junior or senior majoring in physiology to receive the Thomas Adams Memorial Scholarship. Students are selected based on intellectual curiosity, financial need and demonstrated academic promise.

Professor Adams had a special affinity for teaching undergraduate students and served as an academic advisor throughout his entire career. He advised students in Physiology, the College of Human Medicine, the Honors College, Lyman Briggs College and the American Medical Student Association. His family established this scholarship to honor his lifelong desire to help students.

Please submit your completed application to Mr. Brad Robinson (robin454@msu.edu) by March 1.

Name: _____ MSU PID Number: _____

Address: _____
_____

Phone Number: _____ Email Address: _____

Please attach the following to your completed application:

1. An unofficial copy of your transcript(s)
2. A current resume or CV
3. An essay describing your reasons for choosing physiology as your major at Michigan State University and how this award will help you achieve your academic goals (300 words or less).

I have applied for and received financial aid.

I do not receive financial aid.

Other

Briefly explain your financial need.